

Hello, Class of 2024!

Welcome to the University of Virginia! Whether you are on grounds or at home, I know you are going to have an incredible experience. I know that times are tough but one of the things that makes UVA student so great is our resilience and ability to make the best of everything. No matter where you are you are a part of UVA family and don't ever let yourself forget that.

One of the best memories I have of UVA is getting to meet my future friends in the variety of different clubs and organizations that the university offers. One of my favorite memories is when I met a variety of people from different backgrounds and my new best friend in a club called Sports Business Society at UVA. This club brought together people with the same love of sports that I have and it is how I really got to know people in my first year. What is nice, during this time, is that most clubs are meeting online, so you can find their passions and meet more first years no matter where you are. Clubs and organizations at UVA are something that makes us special and, during the times of the coronavirus, they are a great way to have some fun and meet new friends.

This a great place to find your passions, meet other people with your passions and have some fun outside of class even though most of the semester is virtual. I hope you are excited and looking forward to your first year because I know it is going to be a blast just like mine was. Good luck with your first semester and take advantage of everything UVA has to offer. We are excited to welcome you to UVA!

Wahoowa!!

Sincerely,
